TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

[REPORTS OF THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.]

Later from the North.

RICHMOND, March 24.—Northern papers of the 21st received.

Gen. Hindman, while en route to Mexico, was shot by some person unknown.

Late advices from North Carolina represent Sherman's army marching on Goldsboro.

A junction with Schofield had not taken place.

A meeting of citizens of Wilmington on the 14th inst., was held at the Theatre. The meeting adopted resolutions recognizing the authority of the United States government. The stage was draped with the Union flag. The Mayor and others made speeches in favor of submission to the national authority.

The issue of passes to civilians to visit Grant's army has been suspended.

The "Herald" says there was intense excitement in the Gold Room and Stock Exchange on Tuesday. Gold closed at 187. The violent fluctuations of gold portends a general crash among merchants. The approaching storm has been heralded by several failures.

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, March 23.—The Secretary of the Treasury, by an official circular, invites public attention to the act of Congress to raise coin for the purpose of furnishing necessary supplies for the army. He invites prompt and concerted measures to ensure success of the loan. He proposes to hypothecate fifty thousand bales of government cotton as collateral security for the sum required at government price, (twenty cents per pound,) giving the privilege of exportation. The security will be fifty per cent. in excess of the loan, in order to give advantage to the lenders and promote a speedy return of their money with a fair opportunity of profit.—Those who elect to take cotton at once in payment shall receive the same at the rate of fifteen cents per pound, with the right of exportation, free from all restrictions and conditions, except the duty of one-eighth per cent. per pound. The cotton will be delivered in Georgia, Alabama or Mississippi, at the option of the lender, at some place convenient for exportation. The Secretary requests prompt responses from institutions and persons liable to the tax imposed by the act of Congress, in order that the collection of the tax of one-fourth per cent. may be accepted if the required sum of three millions be successfully raised.

European News.

RICHMOND, March 23.—The Paris correspondent of the New York "Times," 3d, says the rebel diplomatic council which has been sitting here for some days at the Grand Hotel broke up yesterday. The London "Index," the mouthpiece of the council, declares that there is no doubt, from the proceedings of the council at the Grand Hotel, that negotiations are now going on between Europe and the South which will give quite a new turn to affairs in America, and this statement of the rebel organ is printed this morning in the "Moniteur." The members of the council have also been heard to assert that there would be peace between the North and South, of course on the basis of separation, by the 1st of May. The same correspondent says we have unmistakable evidence that not one time since the commencement of the war has there been so little likelihood of the recognition of the Confederacy as now.

NORTHERN NEWS.

New York papers of the 15th have been received at Richmond.

The New York Herald has two pages filled with its army correspondence from Sherman, dated at Fayetteville on the 12th instant. The letters represent that Sherman has found plenty of provisions in the country along the route, and had left "thousands of bushels of corn on the road for want of transpotation." All the farmhouses from Savannah to Columbia from which the inhabitants had fled were burned. The correspondent says:

Think of this black swath extending from Barnwell to the coast, and figure upon the value of Southeastern South Carolina at the present day. Even the negroes were weary—afraid, in some instances, to trust themselves among the men who made this fearful work on the country. White table-cloths were suspended from windows, with "Have mercy on me!" for a legend; and the flaxy spirit of South Carolina was tamed effectually.

The entrance to Columbia is described as a grand ovation to the "old flag." The fate of Winnsboro', South Carolina, the next town entered, is thus described:

General Slocum double-quicked the advance of his column into the village of Winnsboro' to save the town from the torch of his foragers.—Pardee's brigade, of Geary's division, was in advance, and every effort was made to beat the stragglers from the grand army into town.—They were not successful. The town was pillaged and set fire before any organized body of troops got in. All officers turned their attention to the fire, and arrested the progress of the flames. Generals Slocum, Williams, Geary, Pardee, Barnum, and all, worked with their hands, burned their whiskers and scorched their clothes, to prevent the repetition of Columbia scenes.

OCCUPATION OF FAYETTEVILLE.

Fayetteville is a town of some four thousand inhabitants. The first man to come into the town was Captain Duncan, commanding the scouts and mounted men of the Army of Tennessee. He was repulsed by Hampton's cavalry, and himself taken prisoner. His party was reinforced by the foragers, and again attacked the place, taking it. General Giles A. Smith's Fourth division, Seventeenth army corps, came up, also the head of General Slocum's column, and hoisted the flag at the market-house.

The Mayor surrendered the town to Colonel William B. Strong, of General Howard's staff; then to General Slocum, who had just arrived.

As the rebels were retreating over the river, they cooked two guns on the town, and shattered the bridge, which was covered with ruins.

Fayetteville is garrisoned by General Slocum. The best of order and regularity reigns there.—The streets are patroled by guards, thus protecting life and property. Nothing has been destroyed, or is likely to be destroyed, except the arsenal and the office of the Fayetteville Observer—a lying, treasonable sheet, that well deserves its fate.

KILPATRICK'S DEFEAT BY HAMPTON.

The latter could not well pass over the defeat of Kilpatrick by Hampton, but they try to cover it up as well as possible. It appears that Kilpatrick started, on the 9th, to "intercept" Hampton, who was protecting Hardee's rear, and getting in front of him, waited for him to come up, which he soon did. The latter says:

The attack was made in three columns.—Wheeler led the right, Hampton the centre, and Butler the left, and was perfectly irresistible.—Kilpatrick's first line, under Lieutenant Colonel Way, was actually ridden over; headquarters and artillery captured; and at one time the entire camp, including the entire staff, and Colonel Spencer, commanding the Third brigade, were in the enemy's possession. But General Kilpatrick made his escape, joined the brigade of Colonel Spencer, which was falling back on foot, stubbornly disputing every inch of ground. A large portion of the enemy halted in and about the camp for a moment to plunder. This was fatal to him. Little Kil's brave cavalry rallied, under the leadership of their tried commander, retook the hills upon the left, and then, with one wild shout, swept down upon the rebels, who were swarming about the captured artillery and Kilpatrick's former headquarters. In a moment the artillery was in their possession, and turned upon the enemy.

THE LOCAL'S COLUMN.

NEWS to Us.—The Lynchburg Virginian, under the heading of "Good News from South Carolina," gives Gen. Lee's dispatch concerning the fight at Bentonsville. As Mr. Checks would say, we beg leave most respectfully to insinuate that Bentonsville is in North Carolina, "a narrow strip of land lying between the States of Virginia and South Carolina," and that your eyes, why didn't you know it. Take that—and that.

Headquarters Reserve, North Carolina,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, February 12th, 1865.

General Orders,
No. 9.

I. ENROLLING OFFICERS IN THE STATE OF North Carolina will make diligent enquiry in their respective counties for the arms, &c., called for in Gen. Lee's appeal of January 22, 1865.

They are required to receive all arms brought forward under this appeal, and restoring them to Capt. A. W. Lawrence, 1st Ordnance Officer Reserve, N. C.

By command of Lt. Gen'l Holmes:

JOHN W. HINSDALE,
Asst. Adj. General.

HARDEE'S ARMY OF SOUTHERN VIRGINIA.
January 25, 1865.

TO arm and equip an additional force of cavalry, there is need of carbines, revolvers, pistols, saddles, and other accoutrements of mounted men. Arms and equipments of the kind desired are believed to be held by citizens in sufficient numbers to supply this waste. Many keep them as trophies, and some with the expectation of using them in their own defence. But it should be remembered that arms are now required for use, and that they cannot be made so effectual for the defence of the country in any way, as in the hands of organized troops. They are needed to enable our cavalry to cope with the well armed and equiped cavalry of the enemy, not only in the general service, but in resisting those predatory expeditions which have inflicted so much loss upon the people of the interior.

To the patriotic I need make no other appeal than the wants of the service; but I beg to remind those who are reluctant to part with the arms and equipments in their possession, that by keeping them they diminish the ability of the army to defend their property, without themselves deriving any benefit from them. I therefore urge all persons not in the service to deliver promptly, to some of the officers designated below, such arms and equipments (especially those suitable for cavalry) as they may have, and to report to those officers the names of such persons as neglect to surrender them in their possession.

Every citizen who preserves a carbine or pistol from remaining unused, will render a service to his country. Those who think to retain arms for their defence, should remember that if the army cannot protect them, the arms will be of little use. While no valid title can be acquired to public arms and equipments except from the Government, it is reported that many persons having nominally purchased them from private parties. A full compensation will, therefore, be made to all who deliver such arms and equipments to any ordnance officer, officer commanding at a post, officers and agents of the Quartermaster and Commissary Departments at any station, officers in the Enrolling service, or connected with the Mines and Mining Bureau. All these officers are requested and those connected with this army are directed to receive and receipt for all arms and equipments, whatever their condition, and forward the same, with a duplicate receipt, to the Ordnance Department at Richmond, and report their proceedings to these headquarters. The person holding the receipt will be compensated upon presenting it to the Ordnance Bureau. While it is hoped that no one will disregard this appeal, all officers connected with this army are required, and all others are requested, to take possession of any public arms and equipments they may find in the hands of persons now failing to surrender them to the service of the country, and to give receipts therefor. A reasonable allowance for their expenses and trouble will be made to such patriotic citizens as will collect and deliver to any of the officers above designated such arms and equipments as they may find in the hands of persons not in the service, or who will report the same to those officers. A prompt compliance with this call will greatly promote the efficiency and strength of the army, particularly of the cavalry, and render it better able to protect the homes and property of the people from outrage.

R. E. LEE,
General.

The officers receiving arms or accoutrements under this appeal are requested to state upon the face of the duplicate receipts given by them the condition of the articles, whether in good order or otherwise; and if not in good order, the per centage which should be deducted on that account.

These receipts may be presented for payment to any one of the following named officers:

Capt J M Stevens, Richmond Arsenal, Richmond
Major B Randolph Stanton, Va
Major E S Hutter, Danville, Va
Capt G S Gatty, Lynchburg, Va
Capt Chas Semple, Wytheville, Va
Capt A G Brenizer, Salisbury, N C

J GORGAS,
